2 - The Morningstar holdings-based approach is a purely quantitative approach that analyzes the individual stocks in the Fund's portfolio in terms of style and size. Morningstar conducts proprietary in-house research on equity securities and plots them in its trademarked Morningstar Style Box. The style attribute of stocks within the Fund are rolled up to determine the Fund's overall investment style. The stocks are then analyzed by size. The scale for both style and size range from -100 to 400. The Holdings-Based Style Map chart is created at a point in time and is as of 9/30/2021. It represents the Morningstar Ownership Zone™. The shaded area represents the center 75% of the Fund's assets, and it provides an intuitive visual representation of the area of the market in which the Fund invests. A "centroid" plot in the middle of the Ownership Zone™ represents the weighted average of all the Fund's holdings.

Beta measures a fund's sensitivity to market movements. The beta of the market is 1.00 by definition. Upside Capture % explains how well a fund performs in time periods where the benchmark's returns are greater than zero. Downside Capture % explains how well a fund performs in time periods where the benchmark's returns are less than zero. Active Share is a term used to describe the share of a portfolio's holdings that differ from that portfolio's benchmark index. It is calculated by comparing the weight of each holding in the Fund to that holding's weight in the benchmark. Positions with either a positive or negative weighting versus the benchmark have Active Share. An Active Share of 100% implies zero overlap with the benchmark. Active Share was introduced in 2006 in a study by Yale academics, M. Cremers and A. Petajisto, as a measure of active portfolio management.
